

flurry of activity for neighborhood associations

Neighborhood associations were active in June with annual picnics, clean-ups, garage sales, and more.

Bennett Street residents in the Arbors spruced up their street's circle with grass seed and plantings on June 4th. After their hard work, the residents enjoyed a potluck together.

On June 18th, Hildreth Hill held its second annual neighborhood-wide garage sale. About 25 homes participated.

Washington Park residents met with HWS representatives to plan for a neighbor helping neighbor project. A couple of streets will be selected for curb appeal projects done by off-campus students, landlords, and residents this September. Over 70 Castle Heights neighbors gathered for their picnic in Lafayette Circle on June 18th. Residents voted on the association's new logo and tagline.

challenge and best house on the block in progress

The first Best House on the Block project is under construction. Shown above is a new three season porch on an East North St. home in East Lakeview.

Progress is also being made on the 2011 Great Geneva Neighborhood Challenge. GNRC staff met with all of the participants to finalize the projects. Participants have begun removing shrubs, installing plants, and repairing porch steps.

youth bicycle tour of four city parks

The Pride in Our Pocket Parks Campaign group held a youth bicycle tour on June 25th. Officer Bennett of the Geneva Police Department led the group between Ridgewood, Brook St., Lafayette Circle, and Washington St. parks.

Participants collected playing cards at each park and won prizes based on the best poker hand.
